BAM! Complete Guide to Performing Networks in the United States

by Robert Baird

A guide to national, regional, state and specialized associations
The United States of America (USA), commonly referred to as the United States (U.S.) or America, is a federal republic composed of 50 states, the federal district of Washington, D.C., five major territories, and various possessions. The 48 contiguous states and Washington, D.C. are in central North America between Canada and Mexico. The state of Alaska is in the northwestern part of North America and the state of Hawaii is an archipelago in the mid-Pacific. The territories are scattered about the Pacific Ocean and the Caribbean Sea. At 3.8 million square miles (9.9 million km²) and with over 320 million people, the country is the world's third largest by total area (fourth largest by land area) and the third most populous. It is one of the world's most ethnically diverse and multicultural nations, the product of large-scale immigration from many countries. The geography and climate of the United States are also extremely diverse. Artists who wish to tour the United States will experience a wide variety of travelling conditions.

There are presenting networks across the country and many foreign artists have toured successfully in all of them. Each network has its own character, focus and benefits. I urge you to explore the information in these pages to find out which networks might be of interest to you. Of course, you should join and participate in those which will be of most benefit to you. An artist’s experience with any presenter network is unique: some artists are immediately successful and can take advantage of membership and connections; other artists find it difficult to make headway. You will only know how an organization works and if it works for you once you have plunged in. Good luck! - Robert

www.npnweb.org

The National Performance Network (NPN) is a national organization supporting artists in the creation and touring of contemporary performing and visual arts. NPN is about community engagement, touring, creating, sharing ideas and knowledge. NPN is about representing all artists who create something new and supporting the presenters who take the risk in showcasing it.

The National Performance Network (NPN) has brought innovative performing artists to all corners of the United States for more than 25 years. Begun in 1985 by David White at Dance Theatre Workshop in New York, NPN was founded to address the issues of artistic isolation and the economic constraints of moving art around the country and the sharing of artistic and community voices. From a beginning of 14 organizations as “primary sponsors,” the network now numbers 61 NPN Partners.

In 2007 the Visual Artists Network (VAN) began as a pilot program and was formally launched with the selection of 15 VAN Partners that are leading contemporary arts organizations from across the United States.

As an artist-centered, field-generated network, the National Performance Network is unique in its structure. Its active and engaged network of presenters form an interconnected web or relationships through which support and services are strategically designed, effectively distributed, and successfully leveraged.

The National Performance Network and the Visual Artists Network are closed networks, intentionally kept small to facilitate active participation, build sustainable relationships, and measure impact over time. The national infrastructure meets NPN’s goal to support artists and the creation of new work in the context of community engagement. Every few years, a small number of organizations are invited to join the Network following a rigorous nomination and application process.
Through its network of artist-centered partners, NPN/VAN’s programs support the creation and presentation of new work in a context of community engagement.

Supporting Creativity and Engaging Communities through Touring

One of NPN/VAN’s primary objectives is to support artists’ ability to move their work around the country and the world, giving them the opportunity to engage new audiences and communities. It does this through subsidies to the NPN and VAN Partners who chose the artists they present.

- Performance Residencies
- Freight Fund
- Exhibition Residencies
- International Program

A second key objective is to facilitate the development of new work by supporting NPN Partners’ ability to commission fresh, exciting creations and collaborations. At this time, the Creation Fund and Forth Fund are only available to NPN Partners, who are presenters of performance work.

- Creation Fund
- Forth Fund

Building the Capacity of the Field

NPN strengthens the management and community engagement capacities of NPN/VAN Partners and the artists they present.

- Community Fund
- Mentorship and Leadership Initiative
- LANE – Leveraging a Network for Equity

While NPN/VAN works to increase the skills and competencies of individual artists and presenters, it is also engaged in a larger, field-wide effort to build knowledge, connections and impact through regular face-to-face convenings.
• Annual Meetings
• Mid-Year Meetings

Exercising Leadership Locally and Nationally

As a matter of cultural policy, NPN/VAN collaborates with other organizations through strategic partnerships and participation in national service organizations. These efforts help develop new markets and audiences for artists, leverage services to benefit the field, and increase artistic pluralism. NPN/VAN highlights the activities of NPN/VAN Partners and artists through its publications, both in print and electronic.

Arts Northwest (ANW)  www.artsnw.org

Arts Northwest is a unique partnership organization that has been serving presenters and artists in WA, OR, ID and well beyond for more than 30 years. It has its roots in Oregon’s NW Booking Conference, Washington’s "SWAP" (State of Washington Arts Presenters), and PNWAP (Pacific Northwest Arts Presenters). The annual NW booking conference as we now know it was born with the support of Idaho, Washington and Oregon Arts Commissions. As a result, the conference started rotating between the three states to a variety of cities. In 1991, the organization voted to bring artists members into full membership and changed the organization's name to Arts Northwest to reflect that evolution. For the first time artists and presenters from all three states sat on the board of directors together. The inclusion of artists and managers mirrored the national trend towards inclusiveness of the entire field. The successful inclusion of the three state region also made sense in terms of the touring market and fiscal efficiency for staff and conferences. It is still a successful model because it meets its members' needs.

TODAY, Arts NW serves a growing membership of more than 500 organizations and individuals with services ranging from technical support and publications, mentoring and professional development programs and of course, the annual convening of the Arts Northwest Booking Conference. In recent years, Arts Northwest has been asked to extend its services well beyond the tri state region, incorporating growing presenter membership from 10 of the western states, and increasing participation by artists and agents from most of the nation and several countries.

The largest gathering of artists, their management and presenters of the performing arts in the region. Four highly productive and professional days include dynamic performance showcases, Keynote Speaker in-depth professional development, workshops, block-booking sessions, a packed exhibit hall, sales spotlights and social networking opportunities! Presenters of the performing arts will discover untapped resources, ideas and inspiration. presenting and touring field. For many years, Mary Beth served as a mentor for students, artists, managers, and presenters engaged in the presentation of the performing arts.

Showcases at the Performing Arts Exchange provide presenters an opportunity to sample high quality artistic performances that will attract and engage their audiences. PAE provides a variety of opportunities for artists to increase their visibility during our conference.

Showcases

Juried Showcases: 15-minute showcases produced by South Arts, where artists, agents, and managers apply for one of 16 showcase spots that take place over the course of two nights. The applications are adjudicated by a panel of experts in their field.

Independent Showcases: Performances produced by the artist, agent, or manager. They occur after the Juried Showcases in a number of locations around the conference’s host city.

Sponsored Showcases: Performances produced by South Arts that have the highest visibility at the conference. This is a great opportunity for an already well-established artist to expand their regional base.

Professional development, or “PD@PAE”, is a major component of the Performing Arts Exchange, designed to give conference-goers extra knowledge to take into the field with them once PAE is over. There are four kinds of sessions offered through PD@PAE: Workshops, Face Time, the New Colleague Program, and Consortia Meetings. Additionally, PAE makes it a priority to provide space for Special Interest Meetings.

PD@PAE Workshops support the presenting and touring field with practical management, leadership, and career training. Presenters, artists, agents, and managers will find a variety of topics to deepen their knowledge and expand their ways of working.

Read more about Workshops
Face Time provides quick and easy access to experienced professionals in the presenting field. After all, there’s nothing like talking one-on-one with an experienced professional to get your questions answered and specific needs addressed. We’ll be inviting knowledgeable experts in various fields to speak with attendees during 20-minute sessions at PAE. Read more about Face Time

American Choral Directors Association (ACDA)

www.acda.org

Founded in 1959, the American Choral Directors Association (ACDA) is a nonprofit music-education organization whose expressed purposes outline the associations dedication to the advancement of choral music.

Membership
ACDA membership consists of choral directors who represent more than one million singers across the United States. ACDA members teach choral music in public and private schools - kindergarten through senior high school - and at the college and university levels. They conduct a variety of choral groups, including boychoirs, children's choirs, men's and women's choruses, junior and senior high school choirs, college and university choruses, ethnic choirs, vocal-jazz ensembles, and symphony choruses. They also conduct choirs in their communities and in their places of worship. Membership is established by submitting a membership application and annual dues.

Organizational Structure
ACDA is divided into seven geographic regions/divisions, as well as fifty state chapters, each with its own conferences, newsletters, festivals, clinics, and workshops. Whether at the National, Division, or State level, ACDA is structured so that its members can easily involve themselves in the organization's activities.
Conferences
ACDA offers conferences at the state, division, and national levels. National conferences are offered in March of odd-numbered years; the seven division conferences take place in February and March of even-numbered years. Through concert performances by accomplished choirs, educational clinics by leading experts, and exhibits by music-industry representatives, ACDA offers its members a diverse and practical forum in which to develop their skills and professional knowledge.

Choral Journal
The official publication of the American Choral Directors Association is Choral Journal. This national publication, issued monthly, contains articles and columns of a scholarly and practical nature in addition to reviews of newly released CD recordings, books, and printed music. Choral Journal is a benefit of membership in the American Choral Directors Association. Subscriptions are available to libraries. Advertising space is available as well.

Committees
ACDA has numerous national committees engaged in advancing the choral profession in its many facets. The committees work in several areas of the choral profession, whether through establishing high performance standards, recommending quality choral literature, encouraging research in choral studies, or advocating the importance of choral music in our society.

Repertoire and Resources
ACDA establishes and maintains the highest of choral standards and recommends quality choral literature through the Repertoire and Resources (R&R) Committees. This national structure is the foundation for growth in every Division and State chapter through the organization.
Research and Publications Committee
ACDA is committed to the field of research as applied to choral music and publishes monographs and a composer series in both traditional and digital formats. The committee therefore manages several ongoing projects that both support and generate research and publications.

Publications
ACDA has several publications including Choral Journal, ChorTeach, International Journal of Research in Choral Singing (IJRCS), division newsletters, state newsletters, and the monograph series.

Online Communities
The Association also maintains dozens of internet sites providing up-to-the minute information to its members, including a Facebook page, a Facebook group, a YouTube site with several hundred videos, and ACDA’s professional networking site, ChoralNet. All of these publications are intended to connect members, and encourage peer learning and exchange.

Individual Membership Options

Active ($95) - This is the correct category for the vast majority of our members. You are an active member if you have a paid part-time or full-time choral position, or are responsible for the administration of a choral program. (Active members in Minnesota must add $15 for state chapter dues; members in Iowa must add $3 for state dues.)

Retired ($45) - If you are a member who has attained retirement status, we encourage you to maintain your membership in ACDA in this category. This category, with a reduced dues that also keep most Active member benefits, is a courtesy for former Active members who have retired from all paid choral position, full-time or part-time. (Retired members in Minnesota must add $15 for state dues.)
Student ($35) - You may select Student membership if you are a high school or college/university student AND do not have a paid full-time or part-time choral position. (If you have any paid choral position, you should choose Active membership.) Please understand that the lower dues we have established for students is our entire membership's investment in the next generation of choral professionals, and is not designed for someone who is taking classes while continuing to earn a part-time or full-time living from their choral work.

You may also use the Student category upon leaving school for up to two years, until you are able to secure a paid position, either part-time or full-time. We trust our members to act in accordance with the spirit of this gesture, understanding that it is a temporary way for individuals to be a part of the ACDA community until they begin to earn income that will allow them to be a full member. Student members receive online access to the Choral Journal.

Associate ($45) - If you are not currently an active choral conductor but you are interested in choral music and directing, this is your category for membership. Please be aware that this category is basically an online membership. Associate members receive an online Choral Journal, and are not eligible to sponsor students for Honor Choirs or attend conferences. (Associate members in Minnesota must add $15 for state chapter dues.)

International ($45) - Members and potential members living outside the United States and Canada should use the international member category. Please note that the reduced price reflects the fact that the Choral Journal will only be available to international members in its online form.
Life ($2,000, or $200 per year for 10 years) - If you have been an ACDA Active member for at least 10 years, you may become a Life member by paying $2,000 in dues (lump sum, or paid over a maximum of 10 years, at least $200 per year). While you are paying, you are a "Paying Life" member. Life and Paying Life members have all of the benefits of Active membership, and once the payment is completed, are never charged for membership dues again.

Institutional or Business Membership Options

Institution ($110) - This category is for ensembles or school/church music departments.

Industry ($135) - This category is for music-related businesses.

International Festivals and Events Association (IFEA) www.ifea.com

Founded in 1956 as the Festival Manager's Association, the International Festivals & Events Association (IFEA World) today is 'The Premiere Association Supporting and Enabling Festival & Event Professionals Worldwide.' In partnership with global affiliates under the umbrellas of IFEA Africa, IFEA Asia, IFEA Australia / New Zealand, IFEA Europe, IFEA Latin America, IFEA Middle East, and IFEA North America, the organization's common vision is for "A Globally United Industry that Touches Lives in a Positive Way through Celebration." Toward that end, we now also count “IFEA Academia,” providing a common home for students, faculty and institutions around the world who share a festival and event management focus and a common goal of preparing future industry leaders; a forum for important industry-related research and discussions; and an effective junction of the academic and professional pathways of our industry.

With a target audience that includes all those who produce and support quality celebrations for the benefit of their respective "communities", the IFEA's primary focus is identifying and providing access to the professional resources and networks that will, as stated in our mission, inspire and enable those in our industry to realize their dreams, build community and sustain success through celebration.

The IFEA exists to serve the needs of our entire industry, all those who share our core values of excellence & quality; the sharing of experience, knowledge, creativity and best practices; and the importance of "community" building both locally and globally. Our success lies in the success of those we serve through professional education, programming, products and resources, networking and representation.
The IFEA enjoys the active support of over 2000 Premiere Members, a self-selected group of industry leading professionals and organizations who continue to set and raise the bar for them and everyone in our industry with regard to creativity, quality, professionalism, experience, and success. These members (including all event categories, budget and attendance levels), while representing only a part of the festivals and events industry as a whole, have learned the value of active and continued involvement with their professional peers at the highest levels and have set themselves apart from the pack. They represent the very best of our industry brand and through their involvement the IFEA is able to build a stronger foundation for our common industry.

The IFEA is headquartered in Boise, Idaho, in the northwestern United States and in 2015 celebrated its 60th Anniversary. The organization's offices are located in the historic Boise Train Depot.

The exhibit area provides display information and video material on touring productions. As an educational service to the field, the conference offers a series of panel discussions on current issues and trends. Approximately 300 people register for the conference each year, representing geographic, cultural, and aesthetic diversity.

The Showcase is designed to encourage dialogue about the creation and presentation of that work among artists and presenters whose lives are devoted to the impact of this work.

Theatre Communications Group (TCG)

www.tcg.org

Theatre Communications Group (TCG), the national organization for the American theatre, was founded in 1961 with a grant from the Ford Foundation to foster communication among professional, community and university theatres. Today, TCG's constituency has grown from a handful of ground-breaking theatres to nearly 700 Member Theatres and Affiliate organizations and more than 12,000 individuals nationwide. TCG offers its members networking and knowledge-building opportunities through our conferences, events, research and communications; grants approximately $2 million per year to theatre companies and individual artists; advocates on the federal level and serves as the U.S. Center of the International Theatre Institute, connecting its constituents to the global theatre community. TCG is the nation's largest independent publisher of dramatic literature, with 13 Pulitzer Prizes for Best Play on our booklist; it also publishes the award-winning American Theatre magazine and ARTSEARCH®, the essential source for a career in the arts. In all of its endeavors, TCG seeks to increase the organizational efficiency of its member theatres, cultivate and celebrate the artistic talent and achievements of the field and promote a larger public understanding of, and appreciation for, the theatre.

In 2005, TCG received the Tony Honors for Excellence in Theatre in recognition of its impact on the national field. TCG and its Member Theatres are major contributors to the American theatre sector, which employs more than 126,000 people, produces over 215,000 performances each year and contributes over $2 billion to the US economy annually. A 501(c) (3) not-for-profit organization, TCG is led by executive director Teresa Eyring and governed by a national board of directors representing the theatre field.

Our Programs and Services

Networking and Knowledge-Building
By providing a range of training, communications, research and networking opportunities, TCG harnesses the knowledge of the theatre field for the collective whole. Member theatres are crucial to this effort and participate through convenings such as the TCG National Conference held in a different host city each year; the annual Fall Forum on Governance; teleconferences for theatre leaders, trustees, administrators, educators and artists. TCG member theatres also share in research studies including the annual Fiscal Survey/Theatre Facts; salary, education and governance surveys, and snapshot surveys such as "Taking Your Fiscal Pulse." TCG continues to provide reports and surveys to stakeholders, including funders, government officials, the press and general public that offer insight into the state of the field and promote greater understanding of our issues and awareness of the incredible variety, excellence and depth of our art form. As a growing number of our member theatres seek to network and share artistry with colleagues around the globe, TCG is at the forefront with international initiatives and support services.

Grantmaking
Through a series of philanthropic partnerships, TCG distributes more than $2 million in grants each year to theatres and individuals. By making funds available to organizations, individual artists and administrators, TCG is able to provide development opportunities for a growing body of professionals and help build and connect a new generation of practitioners for the field. Current programs include New Generations, which supports Future Leaders, and Future Audiences and is supported jointly by the Doris Duke Charitable Foundation and the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation; the Fox Foundation Resident Actor Fellowships; the MetLife/TCG A-ha! Program; and the Leadership and the international program, Global Connections, both funded by The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation. Please visit our Grants at a Glance page for more information. TCG has recently launched a new members-only program: The TCG Brain Bank: Where Knowledge Earns Interest, which matches knowledge seekers with knowledge donors. In summer 2010, TCG will offer two pre-conferences to the TCG National Conference in Chicago: a pilot program supported by American Express that brings together pairs of established and emerging practitioners for a three-day intensive leadership development program; and a two-day convening for theatre education directors as part of TEAM: Theatre Education Assessment Models.

Publishing

TCG Books has published the work of more than 235 playwrights and other theatre professionals in single volumes and anthologies, and sold over 2.5 million books since emerging as a publisher in 1984. Its authors boast numerous Pulitzer Prizes and Tony Awards for Best Play or Book of a Musical and one Nobel Prize for Literature, in addition to countless OBIEs, Drama Desk awards and other national and international prizes. TCG also serves as the exclusive U.S. distributor for Playwrights Canada Press of Toronto, Padua Playwrights Press of Los Angeles, New York publishers League of Professional Theatre Women, PAJ Publications, Martin E. Segal Theatre Center Publications and Playscripts, and London publishers Nick Hern Books, Aurora Metro Publications and Oberon Books. TCG Books now represents over 1,600 titles.

As a publisher of new plays and emerging playwrights, TCG Books has a dual objective: to bring new literary voices to public attention and to cultivate individual relationships with our playwrights that nurture their careers. TCG is committed to keeping its playwrights in print.

AMERICAN THEATRE magazine is the must-read periodical about not-for-profit professional theatre. The country's leading arts journalists as well as top professionals from the field contribute to the pages of AMERICAN THEATRE, published ten times each year, with five of the issues containing an entire new playscript. Each fall, the magazine publishes a complete schedule of every production taking place that season at member theatres across the country. Among TCG's other publications are ARTSEARCH®, the essential source for a career in the arts; and online resources such as the TCG Bulletin, executive director's Field Letter, special reports and the Membership Directory.

Field-Wide Leadership
TCG takes its leadership responsibility seriously, initiating and participating in a number of programs to advance its membership and the field overall. As a founding member of the Performing Arts Alliance, TCG leads federal advocacy efforts that have helped guard and increase NEA funding, ensure FEMA eligibility for theatres in disaster areas and improve the timeliness of visa processing. TCG is currently working to ensure continued access to white space for wireless technologies, and to include individual artists and administrators in Congressional health care proposals. Through the Performing Arts Alliance, TCG members (organizational and individual) receive regular updates and advocacy alerts on key issues affecting theatre. Every year, TCG sends a theatre delegation to Arts Advocacy Day in Washington, DC, organizing Hill visits with your Congressional representatives.

As the United States center for the International Theater Institute (ITI), TCG provides leadership on the international landscape connecting its members to a network of more than 90 national centers across the globe. TCG programs foster international collaboration and exchange with geographically unrestricted travel grants; provide visa support letters to bring in foreign artists; and connect theatre practitioners around the globe.

Now in over 120 communities and more than 600 theatres nationwide, TCG's Free Night of Theater brings infrequent and non-traditional attendees to live theatre every year. With support from the NEA, TCG is working with the National Alliance of Musical Theatre to build awareness of theatre through video and audio spots and programs such as Free Night.
Our Membership
From 15 theatres sitting around a table in 1961, TCG's membership today has grown to nearly 500 theatres in 47 states and the District of Columbia; over 12,000 individual members and affiliated trustees; and almost 150 affiliated universities, funders and other businesses. TCG member theatres represent a broad spectrum of aesthetic and cultural viewpoints, organizational structures, budget sizes and missions and together are responsible for much of the vibrant work being produced in America's theatres today. While many of the largest theatres in the country are TCG members, over half of our member theatres have operating budgets of $1 million or less, with 35% of them under $500,000. As we head toward our 50th Anniversary season in 2011, TCG celebrates the incredible diversity in the American theatre and strives for ever greater inclusion.

Our History
As regional theatres throughout America began to proliferate in the 1950s and 60s, W. McNeil Lowry, director of the arts and humanities program at the Ford Foundation in New York, noted a lack of communication and cooperation that seemed to impede the movement's growth. Lowry convened a group of theatre professionals and educators to discuss the possibility of a central office that could be run by representatives from the field.

In 1961, the Ford Foundation set aside $244,000 over a four-year period to meet this goal, and Theatre Communications Group was established "to improve communication among professional, community and university theatres in the United States. The group will facilitate the exchange of artists and other theatre personnel and enable members to study each other's methods, with the ultimate aim of making the theatre more professional in training, creation and production." Headquartered in Pittsburgh at the Carnegie Institute of Technology, the original members of TCG included 15 theatres (both professional and community) and nine university drama departments. Miss Pat Brown, founding artistic director of Magnolia Theatre in Long Beach, Calif., served as director. Founding members still active in TCG today include Alley Theatre in Houston; Arena Stage in Washington, DC; Cleveland Play House; Milwaukee Repertory Theater and the Goodman Theatre in Chicago.

Over its first decade, TCG was led by Michael Mabry, Joseph Zeigler and Hartney Arthur. In 1972, Lowry asked Peter Zeisler, then TCG board president and a co-founder of the Guthrie Theater in Minneapolis and founder of the League of Resident Theatres (LORT), to become executive director. Zeisler remained in that post for 23 years and under his leadership, along with that of deputy director Lindy Zesch, many of TCG’s current programs and services were created including the National Conference, TCG Books, AMERICAN THEATRE magazine and the American Arts Alliance, now called the Performing Arts Alliance. Zeisler retired in 1995, and John Sullivan served as executive director until 1997. Ben Cameron was executive director from 1998 to 2006, serving with managing director Joan Channick. In 1999, TCG became the U.S. Center of the International Theatre Institute, incorporating an increasingly global perspective into all of its activities. TCG was awarded the Tony Honors for Excellence in Theatre in 2005, in recognition of our leadership in the field.

Today, TCG is led by executive director Teresa Eyring, who came to the organization in 2007. TCG continues to pursue its mission to strengthen, nurture and promote the professional not-for-profit American theatre by creating new ways of harnessing and delivering information to the field, investing in leadership and capacity development for artists, administrators and organizations and leveraging the stories of the field to build greater public awareness of and appreciation for live theatre in America.

As we look to our 50th Anniversary celebrations in 2011, TCG’s vision is to be the leader and innovator in assembling, contextualizing and disseminating knowledge to strengthen and energize U.S. theatres and practitioners; to be the quintessential purveyor of facts and stories that capture public, funder and media interest in theatre; to be an electrical source for artists, providing funding, networking, visibility and publications opportunities; to foster conditions for the emergence of a new level of international and intercultural awareness and cooperation through theatre. We look forward to getting there with you.
TCG regularly convenes various meetings throughout the country, connecting theatre people to the partners, resources, and knowledge they need. From our Fall Forum on Governance for trustees and theatre leaders to the largest in-person theatre conference in the U.S., TCG strives to be that “catalytic center of a network of theatre people” from our vision statement. We believe that TCG thrives by bringing the extraordinary people of our theatre field together.
